What to Look for in a Law Firm

A Lawyer Who Understands Your Injuries

It is critical to have a lawyer who understands your injuries and how they might affect you. Why? Because understanding your injury translates into the ability to get full value for your claim.

Critical Questions for Your Lawyer to Answer

It is also critical to have a lawyer who can provide answers to these critical questions:

- When is the best time to settle?
- Will your injury affect your ability to return to work?
- Will your settlement provide for future medical care that may be necessary?
- What will the costs of future care be for the victim of a brain injury?

Your lawyer also needs to be familiar with the medical terminology used to describe your injuries and with the treatment doctors prescribe.

How Can Wild Bill Help?

Whether it is explaining your claim to an insurance company or presenting it to a jury, William "Wild Bill" Weiss has the ability to get the full value for your case. Wild Bill has been practicing law for 30 years, handling all types of personal injury cases. He focuses on handling fractures, joint and head injuries. He is also fully conversant with the type of treatment given, the medical terminology used in these types of cases, and the problems caused in your life as you work on recovering from injury related trauma. Wild Bill has access to online medical databases and has, through representation of doctors and involvement with biotech companies, referral and key sources of information on cutting edge treatments.
